ALTO AND AGRICULTURE

Agricultural organizations, positions, key contributors and documented cooperation

14 November 2026 | Compiled by Heather Levy, Stone Mills Against ALTO

1 Purpose and reading key

This inventory records publicly documented ALTO-related agricultural statements, resolutions, written endorsements, joint initiatives, technical analysis and parliamentary evidence across Ontario and Québec. It distinguishes a formal organizational position from individual remarks, meeting participation, amplification or a research collaboration.

O = opposes ALTO as proposed; R = opposes routing through agricultural land (not necessarily all high-speed rail); P = requests a pause, review or lower-impact alternatives; C = agricultural concerns; E = engagement or organized activity; A = amplifies another group; N = named as affected without a verified separate position. Codes describe the cited action; multiple codes may apply.

2 2025–2026 activity at a glance

Selected dated examples show that agricultural organizations have engaged with ALTO over time. This is illustrative, not a ranking or exhaustive chronology; the directory records each organization and its evidence.

8 Context and verification

Vision Transport study. On 12 November UPA presented a proposal to improve existing passenger-rail corridors through double-tracking, signals, rail-priority arbitration, safer crossings and tilting trains. Vision Transport estimates about $9 billion before contingencies and $11 billion including them; additional grade-separation/electrification scenarios are estimated at roughly $21 billion/$30 billion. This is not a new 300 km/h ALTO line or a like-for-like costing. [S78–80, S82]

Responses. UPA requested federal examination, and NFU/NFU-O supported reviewing the option on 13 November. No separate OFA/CFA statement specifically addressing the new study was located through 14 November; their 6 November joint letter came earlier. Simon Duval's radio comments are not a new regional vote. ALTO's 12 November reply is a proponent statement, not an independent technical review. [S74–75, S78, S81–82, S85–86]

Parliament. AGRI heard farm evidence in June and October. The dedicated-study debate was adjourned 6–5 on 16 June; an 18 June attempt to resume was defeated 6–5. NFU-O requested a study on 3 November. Non-public clerk correspondence says a future-business discussion was suspended to 17 November; no ALTO study was approved. [S37, S43–46, S67–68, S77]

Scope and source limits. Reported farm risks include land severance, machinery/livestock access, drainage, irrigation, biosecurity, soil disruption, road crossings, compensation and succession. The preliminary 1,700 affected properties, at least 500 agricultural, refers only to Montréal–Ottawa, not whole-route expropriations. Some council records and regional votes remain unverified; individual remarks are not board motions. [S3–4, S12, S23, S38, S52, S61, S74]
